325 - Care for Elderly

Nancy Summers had a Medicare Advantage Plan . . .

but not anymore !

When Nancy agreed to sign up for a Medicare Advantage plan, she thought she was keeping her traditional government Medicare, and simply getting additional benefits. She never dreamed she was sacrificing her proven and dependable red-white-and-blue government card for a replacement plan. Sadly, it's a common misconception in the United States.

But then the bills began arriving. Under her new Advantage plan, the very same monthly procedure that had cost her $12.33 under government Medicare in combination with a supplement (Medigap) policy, was now costing her anywhere from $865 to $3,949 per month!

Since she had been on the Advantage plan less than one year, Nancy was able to quickly revert to government Medicare, a Medigap plan, and a Part D plan for pharmaceuticals.

Nancy's message: "Don't give up your traditional government Medicare. The devil is always in the details! You may have a zero-dollar premium up front with an Advantage plan, but you'll pay on the back-end through copayments and out-of-pocket expenses. Contrary to their advertising, nothing is free!"

Picture Perfect Wedding Day Photography Tips

Few things document weddings more effectively than photographs. Carefully curated wedding albums and portraits hung on walls serve as daily reminders of a couple's special day.

LEAVE AMPLE TIME

A carefully orchestrated timeline can ensure photos are the best they can be. Why? Because a couple who is relaxed and not overwhelmed will notice that attitude translates to their photographs. When planning wedding timelines, couples should leave ample opportunities for getting dressed, chatting with the wedding party and going through various photography settings to grab great photos, advise the experts at Martha Stewart.

Photos will capture wedding day memories forever. Couples can put themselves in the best positions for success by following some photography guidelines.

PUT TOGETHER A SHORT

LIST

The photographer will have his or her ideas of which shots to cover, but a couple with specific goals in mind should relay that information to their photographer. For example, if a grandparent is getting up in years, request some solo photos of that person so you can look back on happy times together. Certain couples want to be snapped posing with a beloved pet. Putting that on the list helps ensure it will happen.

ENLIST A FAMILY PHOTO COORDINATOR

If the photographer does not have his or her own assistant, recruit someone who is assertive to help wrangle everyone for the family shots. Attempt to get family photos when family members are relaxed but not too far rumped by dancing or having a good time.

PLAY YOUR STYLE SAFE

A wedding day is not a time for the bride or groom to try a dramatic new style, according to photographer Amanda Lamb. Resist the urge for a daring cut or color. It's also likely not the place to try out new facial hair or heavy makeup. A couple unaccustomed to the way they look may be shy in front of the camera.

DELVE INTO THE DETAILS

Prepare wedding details, like gowns, shoes, accessories, etc., in advance to save time once the photographer arrives, suggests Desi Mendoza, a pro from Dez and Tam Photography. Invest in a beautiful hanger for the wedding gown as well, because you may want to photograph that on its own.

LEARN TO POSE

Couples can practice posing in front of mirrors to get a feel for body positions that put them in their best light. A photographer's advice in regard to posture is invaluable as well. Create space between arms and the body and learn how to angle the body so you look your best.

The Connection Between Appearance and Self-Esteem

Body image is defined as how people feel about the way they look. The Office on Women's Health says a healthy body image makes a person feels comfortable in his or her body, while a negative body image can put a person at higher risk of depression and eating disorders. Mental health experts say that a person's thoughts about his or her appearance can affect how that person feels about himself or herself, which can affect self-esteem. A positive body image can result in high levels of self-esteem, fostering confidence and inspiring an individual to prioritize self-care. Conversely, a negative body image can result in lower self-esteem. Harsh criticism of oneself may lead to antisocial behavior or even disregard for one's personal health. Fostering a positive body image and increasing self-esteem can involve a few strategies. InnerBody Research, a home health company, offers these tips:

- Avoid comparisons to social media and magazine images.
- Focus on the positive aspects of yourself, but learn to love every part of your body.
- Maintain a healthy routine, promoting physical and mental well-being.

- Set realistic expectations.
- Participate in activities you enjoy and surround yourself with supportive people.

Working with a therapist also can help improve body image and self-esteem.

Planning your Valentine’s Day proposal

February 14 is a day dedicated to love. And for couples who are pondering their futures together, Valentine’s Day may seem tailor-made for wedding proposals. According to a survey of 1,000 married adults by James Allen, an online diamond and bridal jewelry retailer, people really love getting engaged on Valentine’s Day. Forty-three percent of Millennials report favoring Valentine’s Day for proposals — whether they’re doing the asking or being asked.

There are a few things to keep in mind when considering whether or not to pop the question on Valentine’s Day. Here are some ideas for planning the proposal.

MAKE IT YOUR OWN

Even if the proposal is taking place on one of the most popular days of the year to get engaged, interject some personality into the occasion. Include important elements that are dear to the person to whom you are proposing, such as favorite flowers or a preferred restaurant. Restaurant reservations may be hard to come by on Valentine’s Day, so you may want to select a more private meal at home or something catered unless you want to share your proposal with a crowd.

VISIT POSSIBLE LOCATIONS IN ADVANCE

Think about where you would like to propose and visit those areas at different times of the day. Timing a proposal during sunset with the rays creating a warm glow on a park bench or on the incoming tide can make it more magical. Adjust proposal area plans for busier crowds expected on Valentine’s Day.

HAVE THE RING AT THE READY

Jewelry shops are in demand around Valentine’s Day, so be sure to choose and have the ring sized well in advance of the proposal. This ensures the ring will be ready in time. If the ring will be a surprise, get hints beforehand to understand your loved one’s design tastes. Consider bringing a friend along when shopping to offer support and advice.

USE CHOCOLATE TO YOUR ADVANTAGE

Boxes of chocolate are ubiquitous on Valentine’s Day. Nestle the ring inside of a box of truffles or another favorite confection and have the question “Will you marry me?” attached to the inside of the box.

HIRE A PHOTOGRAPHER

Work with a photographer to capture the moment, whether it’s a professional photographer or a friend enlisted for the task. This way you can be fully immersed in the moment as it unfolds, and then look back on the experience from a different perspective when the photos are printed.

Valentine’s Day is a popular time for wedding proposals. With a little planning, the occasion can be even more special.
